

Construction and Production Cluster

People who have jobs in this career cluster like to design, put together, build, and make things. That is how the work is alike. Architects design buildings or other structures for construction workers to build. Production workers use special machines and tools to make a product (such as a car) or parts of a product. A worker in this cluster might enjoy doing some of these activities:

- * Drawing plans and blueprints for a new house
- * Managing workers on a construction project
- * Building houses, buildings, or bridges
- * Fixing roads
- * Putting in plumbing
- * Mixing and laying concrete
- * Installing the electrical wiring in a house or building
- * Putting on a roof
- * Operating construction equipment such as graders, cranes, or bulldozers
- * Putting together cars
- * Assembling airplanes
- * Assembling electronic equipment
- * Inspecting finished products for flaws
- * Operating machines and presses of all kinds
- * Testing a product to make sure it works

Would you like work in this cluster? Check one box below that best describes how you feel.

The work really interests me.

The work sort of interests me.

The work doesn't interest me.

Education and Social Services Cluster

People who have jobs in this career cluster like to teach or help other people. That is how the work is alike. You can help people learn different subjects such as reading or math. You might like to work with learners of a certain age, from preschool to adult. You might like to teach people with special needs. Working in a library or museum is also a way to help people learn. You might like to help people with their problems to improve their mental, emotional, or spiritual well-being. A worker in this cluster might enjoy doing some of these activities:

- * Developing educational materials to use in classrooms
- * Training teachers
- * Teaching preschool, elementary school, junior high, or high school
- * Teaching college students or adults
- * Showing people how to find information in a library
- * Working as a school principal
- * Planning and directing tours in a museum
- * Listening to people's problems and trying to help solve them
- * Supervising people on probation
- * Leading people in worship services
- * Assisting clients who need public help such as welfare
- * Investigating child-abuse cases
- * Conducting chemical dependency programs
- * Planning programs to improve health in a community
- * Counseling students to handle family or school problems

Would you like work in this cluster? Check one box below that best describes how you feel.

The work really interests me.

The work sort of interests me.

The work doesn't interest me.